

Fort Standard

Relief Stone Credenza - Four Door

Having worked the prehistoric material since the stone age, humans have made countless things from stone yielded from our earth yet this entirely stone cabinet is certainly the first of its kind. The exterior shell is precisely cut by waterjet to wrap continuously around the form creating the doors, sides and back. The triangular relief pattern milled into the stone removes excess weight while the remaining ribs retain the material's strength. This four door cabinet sits on a hard maple base and is made up of two two door units and a singular top that ties them together.

Dimensions 24 x 72 x 20"	Materials Brazilian "Ipanema" soapstone, hard maple and brass hardware	Pricing $42,000
		Editions 10 + 2 AP